Juice

This is the opening chord sequence and part of the song that most people are familiar with. It's a pretty simple strumming pattern and you just need to follow the ups (U) and downs (D) below.

D D D D U D D D D D U D

```
A | -5-5--6-6-6-5--0-0--0-0---3--|

G | -5-5--5-5-5-5--3-3--3-3-0-0--|

This the vocal line throughout the chorus, the first part is played twice.

Soulmate

This riff sounds best when it is palm muted (place your right palm across the strings near the bridge)

Cry Baby

The (x) at the beginning mean you need to mute the strings. You do this by holding your fretting hand across all the strings and it effectively kills all the pitch of strings and leaves you with just a rhythm sound.

A |--x--|-----7-----7-----|
E |--x--|-----7---7-7-----5/-7---7-7-----|
C |--x--|---4---8-----4-----4---8-----4---4/6--|
G |--x--|-----|

Tempo

This riff is 100% a finger blaster haha. It requires you to stretch your fingers all the way up the fretboard and quite quickly too. You are best using your pinky finger for the 9 on the first riff and the 13 on the second one. Each part is played 4 times.

A | -9-6-5-----| --13-10-9-----|
E |-----7-----|-----11-----|
C |-----6-3-2--x4-|-----9-7-6--x4-|

Truth Hurts

The first part is the opening riff that’s super recognisable. Altho this is tabbed for a low G it will still work with a normal high G (what most ukuleles have). The second part is the vocal line “why men great till they gotta be great”.

A | ---3---3---0---0---|-----|

E | -----3-----0-----| --3-5-3-----|

C | -0-----|-----4---4-4-4-4-5-4-0---|
